THE PROBLEM

Still running your laundry on paper?

Paper slips, a notebook and a phone that never stops ringing. Most laundries lose time — and money — in the same four places.

Where is that abaya?

A customer is at the counter and nobody can say whether her garment is at the press, on the rack or still with the outside cleaner.

The phone never stops

"Is it ready yet?" calls all day — and the customers nobody remembered to call back.

Money that does not add up

Advances written on slips, part payments forgotten, and a drawer that never matches the book.

Deliveries from memory

Addresses on scraps of paper, drivers ringing for directions, cash collected with no record.

LaundryTill fixes all four — on one screen, in Arabic and English.

One system for the whole shop

LaundryTill runs your shop from the moment a garment is handed over to the moment it goes home. Every part of the day works from the same order, so nothing is written twice and nothing is forgotten.

Book an order in under a minute

Find the customer by phone, pick the garments from your own rate card, print a tag for every piece and the invoice — and take an advance. All on one screen.

The screenshot displays the 'Al Salam Laundry' software interface. On the left is a sidebar with navigation options: DAILY (Dashboard, Order board, New booking, Current stock, My round, Pickups) and OPERATIONS (Workshop, Customers, Cash & expenses, Consumables, Suppliers & purchases, Outsourcing, Messages, Reports). Below this is a SETUP section (Items & rates, Services, Service area, Packages, Rewards). The main area shows a customer profile for 'Khaled Al Hajri' with a balance of KD 117.750. Below this is a table of 'Their recent orders' with columns for ORDER, BOOKED, TOTAL, BALANCE, TAG, and PIECES. The table lists several orders, with the most recent one (1096) having a balance of 12.500. At the bottom, there's a section for 'This booking' with 6 pieces, showing a list of items (Kandura / Thobe, Suit - two piece, Abaya - embroidered) with their quantities, costs, and rates. On the right side, there's a summary of items (9.500), VAT (0.000), and a total of KD 9.500. Below this, there's a section for 'TAKEN NOW' (0), 'METHOD' (Cash), 'Balance' (KD 9.500), 'SERVICE' (Dry cleaning, Laundry), 'PROMISED FOR' (09/10/2026), and 'REMARKS'. A large green 'Book it' button is at the bottom right.

02 • THE WORKSHOP

Every piece tracked by its tag

Send a pile to a bench or an outside cleaner, receive it back by the tag, and the counter knows the moment an order is ready.

■ Benches and outside cleaners

Washing, pressing and contractors on one screen.

■ Ready the moment it is

When the last piece returns, the order is ready and the customer is told.

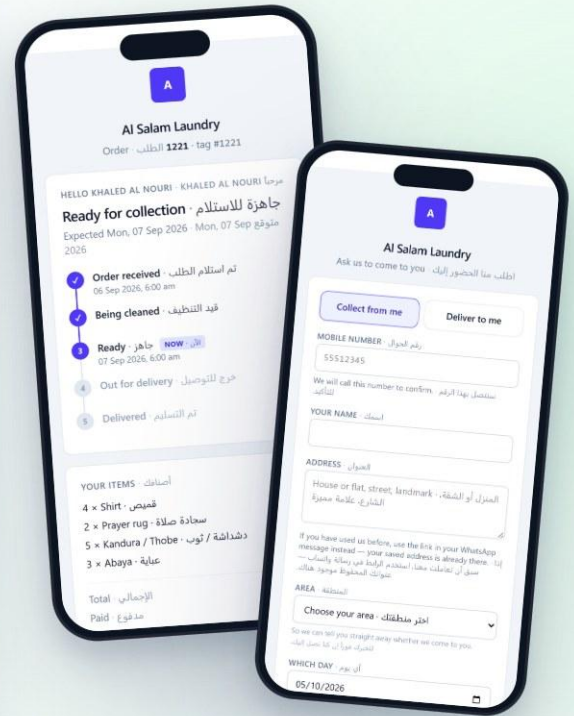

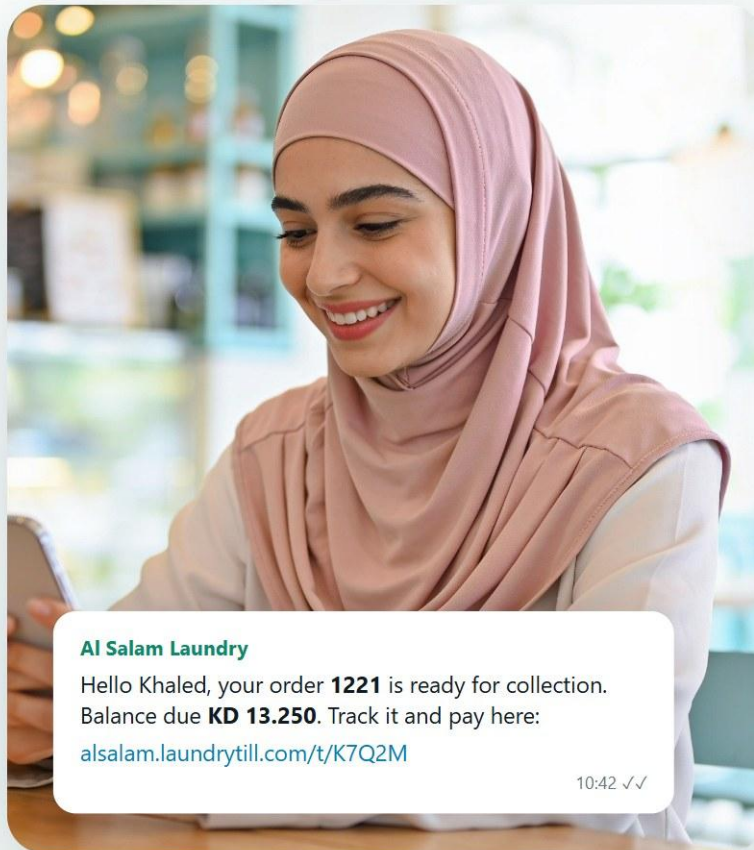

■ Two ways to run a shop

Track every bench, or simply mark orders ready at the counter.

Customers always know where their order is

Automatic WhatsApp messages when an order is booked, ready and delivered — each with a link to track it and pay.

A tracking link

Pay online

A Pay now button opens a secure page for KNET, cards and Apple Pay, and the payment lands on the order by itself.

Pickup requests

Customers ask for a collection from a link — address, area, day and time. You accept and assign a driver.

Questions people ask

Do I need to install anything?

No. It runs in the browser on any computer, tablet or phone, and installs to a phone's home screen like an app. A label printer for tags and an A4 or receipt printer is all the hardware.

Can my staff use Arabic and I use English?

Yes. Every person chooses their own language. Garments, benches and customers can carry an Arabic name too, and the customer's pages print in both.

What about VAT?

Pick your country and the rate, the label and the tax-number field follow — 15% in Saudi Arabia, 5% in the UAE and Oman, 10% in Bahrain, and no tax line at all in Kuwait or Qatar.

Who owns the data, and can I leave?

You do. Each shop has its own database and can download a complete copy at any time. A shop that leaves takes its data with it.

What happens after the free month?

You choose a package and carry on. Or you do nothing: the shop becomes read-only for a month so nothing is lost, and then it closes.

Can I see it working first?

Yes. Ask us for a live walk-through of the demo shop — on a call, or at your counter.
